

PLAGIARISM SCAN REPORT

Date 2020-05-14

Words 905

Characters 4929

Content Checked For Plagiarism

Main Context: How does the wage gap increase long term inequality for women? Wage gap is the pay differences between two individual workers who are working in the factory or offices. Apparently, Wage differences between two individual do exist. When two workers are working in a same company doing a same work at the same level of qualification and yet not getting a same wage. Such wage difference is an illegal thing. And this is not between the men and women, but also between persons of differences creed and colors. But in this report, we are going to discuss that what causes of the wage differences between men and women and what would be the long term inequality for women? If you compare the Wage between men and women, Women are generally paid less than a men. Wage gap between men and women may increases due to the series of the choices that make their life worth for the working. Such choices that relate to the: ? Education ? Occupation ? Large and Small Company ? Working part or full time ? Additional training on company These are the choices that causes for the women of the wage gap. Since men and women are choosing their career path by their specific gender field line. The biggest wage gap between men and women is caused by the education. Since the beginning of the Pakistan, women doesn't get their proper education in the educations institutions. Another reason of the women to not getting a proper education is because of the family pressure. That's why poor education cannot help them to decrease the wage gap between women and men. Another cause of the wage gap is a lack of decision that which sector would give her well pay. I think that women should have a strong thinking power so that they would have make a good decision while choosing a best sector for her and had a power to think about the best herself. Another cause of the wage gap is a lack of training skills and learning because of not choosing different occupation. The reason this problem is same where I discussed a point that women should have a power to think about the best for herself. Another cause of wage gap is because of the lack of partner. A partner is a one who always supports you. Women should have a partner who always supported her in a hard time in a finical problems as well as family problems. Not doing a part time jobs is another caused of the wage difference. Men as well as young generations are doing a part time job so that they can earn more than their original income. But woman doesn't have partner where she tell him or her about her problems and there would be someone who should be there for her. 4 Lack of learning and training is an another cause of the wage difference between men and women. It is due to the not accepting the job offers from other company. That is because of the pressure of the environment. She feels that the environment of that place is not safe for her. That's why the women are not well skills or trained as much as the men does. This way lead wage difference between men and women. These are causes of the wage difference between men and women. There are many ways that woman can do against the wage differences with men. Although there are no so much ways to create the opportunity for the woman in the society. This things can be overcome by creating more opportunities for the women by themselves. Only thing they should works on these points: 1. You should choosing a further education by determining to know the field that what she wanted to like to become in the future. 2. The next step would be the finish of her education that what she start to become in the future. 3. After completing the education, then she choose a well establish sector or the branch of the industry that will pay you well. 4. You can also apply in different occupation so that you're learning skills should be improved. 5. You also choose your partner so that he or she can help you or advice you in a hard time to overcome that difficult problem. 6. You can also choose a partner from your family member so that he or she provide a great advice by looking for you professionals or a private affairs 7. You can have an option for a part time job just to overcome the wage difference between men and women, if you can. 8. You can choose a large company so that they can provide you a facility for the children's day care for the new born baby 9. When your kids decided to work for a small local company then you should allow them to do that, so that this can be reduce some financial problems. 10. Now invest your salary in each of your every new steps in your career or options. 11. You should regularly discuss with your family members or you partners those who are care of your career. 12. You should keep learning and training on different level of the job offers so that labour market could rapidly increase. 13. You should always keep on eye of your funds and rights.

Matched Source

No plagiarism found

Check By:  Dupli Checker