Consider the social differences between individuals who inherited their wealth and individuals who made their “new” money. How might they differ in how they display their wealth and their lifestyles? Social Class is defined as classification on similar factors like Income, Wealth, Education, Health, Rights and Justice. But we will only talk about the wealth and the income in the answer. First we should know the difference of the wealth and the income and they are differ from each other. Income is actually an income which is get from where you work and Wealth is a total amount of all the debts that what you have in your pocket. Actually Income is what you earn and Wealth is what you have right now. Now a days, the whole world is divided into the three types of classes: ? Upper Class ? Middle Class ? Lower Class Upper Class: First, we will start from the upper class who considered known as the group of rich people. The people of the upper class is an owner of some of the country's private wealth and mean of manufacturing and producing. There are so many upper class people who have a lot amount of income and wealth. These upper class people are: ? Large Businessman ? Government Officer ? CEO of the company ? Top Official of any field If you are looking for an example that how you should live with the wealth without source of income. These people are from the group of the Upper Class. There are two types of Upper type of Upper Class. These types are: ? Upper-Upper Class ? Lower-Upper Class 14 Upper-Upper Class people are those who have received or obtain the huge amount of wealth from their family. These people don't have work hard to earn their new money because of their huge amount of wealth. Lower-Upper Class are those who work to enough to earn their new money and new life styles instead of accepting the huge amount of wealth from their family. Successful entrepreneurship is perfect example of the Lower-Upper Class. If they are earning a new money instead of accepting the huge amount of wealth from their family doesn't mean that they are not a wealthy man. These are still a huge wealthy man although they accept new money and new lifestyles but still these people are the wealthy people. Middle Class: Middle Class are those who are not so much rich as much as Upper Class people does and those who are not so much poor as much as Lower Class people does. Although their family doesn't have their wealth to which they can give their wealth to their near one and their income are not so much high. But their income are satisfy to feed themselves and their family. Just like Upper Class, Middle Class has three types of classification. These types are: ? Upper-Middle Class ? Average-Middle Class ? Lower-Middle Class Upper-Middle Class are those who earn more than their average salaries and has a reasonable and quiet expensive houses in to have a nice neighborhoods. These Upper-Middle Class are almost graduate from the colleges to get a proper jobs so that they get a more than average income just to feed their family properly. But these graduates are goes to the respected field of the society. More respected fields are: ? Doctors ? Lawyers ? Local Politicians ? Local Businessman Average-Middle Class is a center layer between Upper-Middle Class and Lower-Middle Class of the Middle Class. The people of the Average-Middle Class has roughly enough income from the company they work to just feed their family. The people of the Average-Middle Class have less or little bit of lesser respected and reputed job than Upper-Middle Class because these jobs are: ? Teachers 15 ? Managers ? Office Workers Just like Upper-Middle Class, the people of Average-Middle Class is also graduate. Lower-Middle Class is a bottom layer of the Middle Class types because the people of the Lower-Middle Class has roughly earn than their average house expense and bills. It is due to the less paid jobs. These jobs are: ? Police Officers ? Electricians ? Truck Drivers ? Plumbers ? Factory Workers The reason of the less paid jobs is because most of the people is not graduate from the colleges. Lower Class: Lower Class people are those who doesn't earn anything and they are very poor as compared to the Upper Class as well as to the Lower Class. The people of the Lower Class doesn't have a wealth and a huge amount of money to feed themselves or to their family as compared to the Upper Class as well as to the Lower Class. The people of the lower class is recognized or describe as: ? Joblessness ? Homelessness ? Poverty This is due to the lack of education. But there are few of them those who has finished their completely education. They only suffer due to not getting a jobs. This lead to the lack of the medical care, lack of proper house, lack of foods, lack of decent clothing, lack of living, lack of safety and most importantly lack of money. Due to this, a common father and mother born more and more babies. This will lead a well-being father turns into criminal, drug supplier and kidnapper due to the pressure of feeding their families and able to create a good living standards. This mean that well-being father are turn out into be an evil person of the society. This will increase criminal rates of Pakistan. In another hand, a well-being mother are trying to abuse the system or the government because they didn't provide a food and money to them so that they can easily live a rest of the life very happily.
